SEVERE EXPLOSIONS

AT THE HOME OF THE ANARCHIST

been killed by the explosion, because parts of two legs were found where they had been blown. Later, however, the police definitely established only one man had been killed.

The neighborhood in which the explosion occurred is one of the most fashionable in Washington. Two doors away lives Senator Swanson, of Virginia. Directly opposite lives Rear Admiral Theodore F. Jewell. The home of Helmer H. Bryn, Norwegian minister, adjoins that of Rear Admiral Jewell, and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt lives a short distance away. Residences in the entire block were damaged by the explosion. Windows were shattered and the fronts of some of the houses were nicked by pieces of flying concrete. Parts of the anarchist were blown in through some of the windows. Several occupants of the nearby houses, including the son of the Norwegian minister, were thrown from their beds by the force of the explosion.

Protect Public Men.

Government experts today were making a careful inspection and analysis of the clothing and other fragments gathered by the police, in an effort to determine the nature of the bomb and the explosion.

Additional precautions were taken by the police today to safeguard public men in Washington. Many homes and public buildings were being guarded. At the capitol extra police were placed on duty and the rule against bringing any packages of any sort into the capitol and the house and senate office buildings was rigidly enforced. The same rule was being applied in other government buildings.

Attorney-General Palmer did not go to his office today and his associates refused to disclose where he and Mrs. Palmer, who left their home after the explosion last night, had taken up their new residence.

All available men of the bureau of investigation have been assigned to the case.

The head of the dead anarchist was found on the roof of a house more than a block away from the scene of the explosion and taken down by firemen, who were searching the roof tops for possible evidence.

Representative Mansfield, of Texas, was passing nearby when the bomb exploded and the fragments of the anarchist struck him and dyed deep crimson spots in the light summer suit he was wearing.

As in the May day attempts, the bomb plot last night was directed, in a majority of cases, against public officials in various cities, men who have been active in suppression of organized lawlessness. As there was little difference in the time between the explosion, with the exception of the in Washington, the police and government agents believe the instruments of destruction were to be timed to explode about the same hour. The fact that wearing apparel and anatomical literature were found at the Palmer home indicated to the police that the bomb exploded just as the terrorist took it from the suitcase under the front entrance to the building. This premature disarrangement of the explosives of the explosion here was so much ahead of those in New York, Philadelphia and elsewhere.

Copies of the pamphlet, bearing the caption "Plain Talk," are in possession of the police and are being furnished only to the identity of the plotters. Printed on white paper, the pamphlet is to be red paper, the pamphlets bear no distinguishing marks, however, and might easily have been printed in any small print shop.

Mr. Palmer has been active in urging anti-Bolshevik measures and the attack on him, as well as on the various court judges and officials as representatives of law and order, are obvious to the authorities, but government agents were at a loss to understand the attempted destruction of a church in Philadelphia.

The full list of cities in which explosions occurred were New York, Washington, Cleveland, Pittsburgh (two), Philadelphia (two), Boston, Paterson and Newtonville, Mass.

Following so closely the outrages of last month, the anarchist outbreak last night is expected to hasten action on bills now before congress dealing with suppression of anarchism and deportation of undesirable aliens. The attempt on the life of Attorney-General Palmer has literally brought home to congress the seriousness of the menace and members today showed marked increase in their desire to eliminate the radical element, which they charge is largely made up of foreigners who could be disposed of by deportation.

Detectives are positive that the attacking of the anarchist's home on a small concrete coping six feet from the front door of Attorney-General Palmer's house was solely responsible for the bomb-placer himself being blown to bits instead of the house and, possibly its occupants.

The explosion blew out a section of the curbing and dug a hole in the earth into the street. The anarchist was approaching the doorway from an angle and in the darkness failed to notice the low coping. When his foot met it he tripped, the detectives believe, and the infernal machine he was carrying went off. Parts of the man were plastered on houses across the street.

Thousands today visited the street in which Attorney-General Palmer's residence is located. The house itself and the street in front were being carefully guarded and scores of federal officers and police were busy with the searching for and finding bits of clothing and other articles which belonged to the anarchist who was killed by the explosion. From an examination of the fragments of the bomb-placer it appeared he was a swarthy man with dark hair and of slender build. He wore a collar of a well-known make upon which was a laundry mark. From this the detectives hoped to learn much, but, judging from the blood-smeared pieces found, was black with a green stripe. The man wore winter clothing, tan lace socks and a white shirt of poor quality with green and yellow stripes.

Remnants of papers which the man had been carrying in his pockets, as well as parts of two pistols were also found.

These fragments also may be of assistance to the detectives in determining the identity of the anarchist. Federal agents are bending every effort to identify the man, as a means of identifying his associates.

Deadly fumes hung in the atmosphere and penetrated all the houses on the same block as the Palmer residence for an hour after the explosion. Lieut. S. J. Magee, U. S. A., an authority on high explosives, who happened to be in the neighborhood at the time, declared his belief that the bomb had been loaded with cordite, one of the most powerful explosives made.

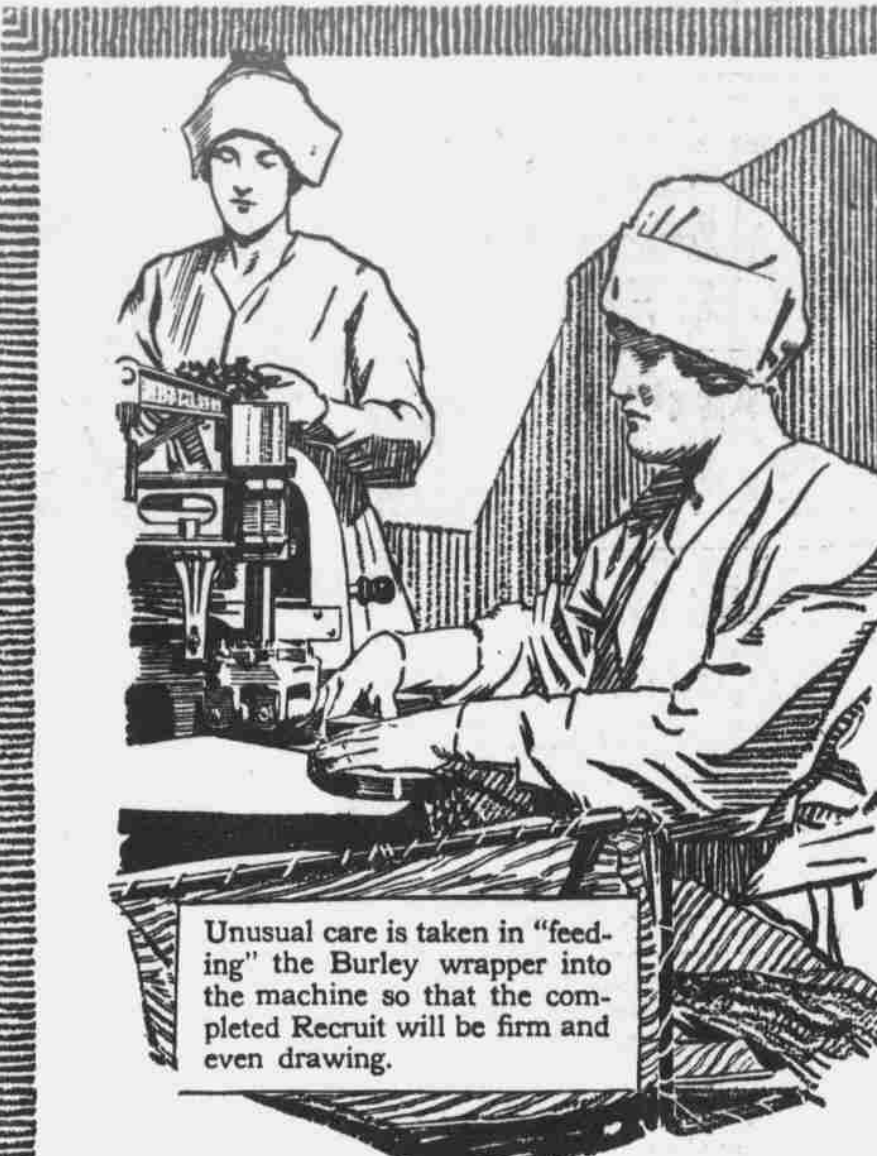

A blood-stained conductor's identification check, found in the front of Mr. Palmer's residence early today, showed the anarchist arrived in Washington at 1:30 o'clock last night from Philadelphia. He went directly from the union station to the Palmer home, and only a few minutes after the explosion he was seen slithering from a street car a few blocks away by C. S. Briggs, of Marion, S. C.

ONE DEAD, MANY HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

NEW YORK, June 3.—One man was killed and several men and women had narrow escapes from serious injury today when a bomb placed at a basement entrance to the home of Judge Charles C. Nott, of federal sessions court, exploded. The front part of the Nott residence was blown out and houses nearby on East Sixty-first street were damaged. Judge Nott was not at home and Mrs. Nott, who was asleep on the second floor, was uninjured.

Wm. Bohner, a patrolman employed by the Holmes Electric Protective company, who is believed to have discovered the plot and attempted to prevent the bomb from exploding, was blown to fragments. Parts of his body were found half a block from the scene. Identification was made possible by the finding of parts of his uniform in the debris.

Judge Nott with three daughters was at his summer home near New London, Conn. With Mrs. Nott in the house a bomb exploded and his family.

TO AID IN REVIVAL.

Dr. E. C. Dees, of Nashville, is now aiding Dr. C. E. Hardy, president of Trevecca college, Nashville, in conducting the 15 days' revival at Chelsea avenue and Ayers street. Many conversions marked the services Monday night and a large crowd attended, despite the inclement weather. Daily services are held at 3 and 8 p.m.

HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT FOR THE COUNTY

The home demonstration and farm development forces of Memphis and Shelby county have been augmented by the arrival of Miss Mary B. McGowan, formerly of Nashville, to become county home demonstration agent. Miss McGowan will assist Miss Cara Harris, county domestic science supervisor. She will promote canning club and home economics work in the county outside of the schools.

WAS 17 MONTHS ON FIGHTING LINE

Mother Ship of U. S. Naval Recruiting Expedition Is "Some Boat."

Seventeen months on the line is the record of the U. S. destroyer Isabella, mother ship of the flotilla, which is expected to reach Memphis Tuesday night, according to Lieut. G. N. Weitchelt, who has arrived in Memphis as advance agent for the big navy recruiting expedition.

During this 17 months the big destroyer hunted German submarines in the Bay of Biscay, the North sea and the Irish sea in all kinds of weather. One time she had a brush with a submarine and the submarine, the U-28, managed to limp into a Spanish port, where she was interned for the remainder of the war.

There is some doubt as to whether the Isabella will be able to get under the two bridges spanning the Mississippi at Memphis, Lieut. Weitchelt said Tuesday. "But we will try listing to get under the bridges," he said. She is 245 feet long, with a 40-foot beam, and can make 30 knots. She is in command of Capt. T. H. Vinson.

The destroyer will be accompanied by "a plik" and three 10-foot submarine chasers. The "plik" is to translate the deep sea vernacular, is the submarine K-5.

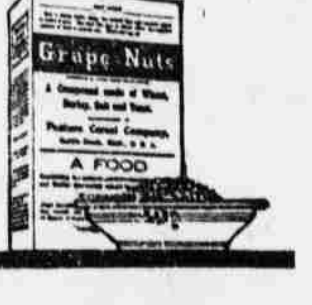

She may go through her paces while off Memphis, as 30 feet of water is available, and Lieut. Weitchelt says that is sufficient to permit her to submerge. When submerging the K-5 is in direct command of Lieutenant-Commander Thomas Berrien, who is commander of the flotilla.

A moving picture show of life in the United States navy will be given in Court square at 5 o'clock Tuesday night and each night during the stay of the flotilla, weather permitting. Lieut. Weitchelt stated that he expects to have the Great Lakes training school band, which played here during the Centennial, to furnish music for the picture shows.

The three seaplanes which preceded the flotilla to Memphis will remain here and depart up the river with the sister craft. The flotilla will remain only long enough to take on supplies.

During the flotilla's stay in Memphis recruits who join the navy will be given a flight in the air or a dive beneath the river's surface, according to Lieut. Weitchelt.

EXPLOSIONS OF BOMBS FORM NATION-WIDE PLOT

BOSTON, June 3.—Early investigations of the explosions last night at the home of Police Judge Tibert F. Hayden in the Roxbury district and that of State Representative Leland Powers in Newtonville, tended to confirm the first opinion of the police that the outrages were part of a nation-wide plot.

Pamphlets entitled "Plain Words" were found scattered outside the Hayden house and also in the wreckage. These were identical in language with those found at the home of Attorney-General Palmer in Washington, containing such phrases as "Long live the social revolution," "Down with tyranny," and "A time has come when the social question's solution can be delayed no longer." They were signed "The Social Fighters."

No one was injured in either explosion.

JUDGE ESCAPES.

CLEVELAND, June 3.—An attempt was made to blow up the home of Mayor Harry L. Eavin last night. No one was injured but a part of the house was wrecked. First reports were that it was a gas explosion but police later declared a bomb or infernal machine had been planted.

We Will Buy Your Liberty Bonds AT PAR

On the Following Conditions

1. The entire proceeds to be deposited against our Certificate of Deposit bearing 3 per cent interest per annum.
2. Certificate of Deposit due: 25% at end of one year and 75% at end of two years from date of deposit.
3. Amount of bonds which we will purchase from any one seller will be limited to $5,000.00.

Why We Make This Offer

Because some people are selling their Liberty Bonds at ruinously low present market prices, when they are intrinsically worth par.

What It Means to You

The net result of the above operation will be that you will be absolutely sure of receiving par for your bonds and will be in the same position as if you sold the bonds on the market today and redeposited the proceeds in our savings department, with the additional advantage that you will receive for your bonds the full par value (original cost) and you will avoid a loss (present market price) of from $5 to $45 on every $100. And our Certificate of Deposit bears 3 per cent interest.
